The Model Rules of Professional Conduct provides an up-to-date resource for information on legal ethics. Federal, state and local courts in all jurisdictions look to the Rules for guidance in solving lawyer malpractice cases, disciplinary actions, disqualification issues, sanctions questions and much more. In this volume, black-letter Rules of Professional Conduct are followed by numbered Comments that explain each Rule's purpose and provide suggestions for its practical application. The Rules will help you identify proper conduct in a variety of given situations, review those instances where discretionary action is possible, and define the nature of the relationship between you and your clients, colleagues and the courts.

This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1916 edition. Excerpt: ... PROXY AND REVOCATION all proceedings of every nature which said corporation may lawfully do or undertake, hereby ratifying and confirming all that my said proxy and attorney in fact and that the duly appointed substitute for my said attorney may do by virtue hereof. If it is desired to give the proxy and attorney power to sign consents to proceedings (which would include bond issues, etc.) the execution of the power ought really to be acknowledged before a notary public as protection to the stockholder, the attorney, and the corporation. BY A CORPORATION A proxy by a corporation, to vote stock owned by it in another corporation, should be appointed by a resolution of the board of directors; there is no authority in this state for the president or other officer of the holding company to vote such stock. It is a good plan for the by-laws of the corporation to authorize the "president and secretary, or either of them," to vote such stock; such a provision makes the matter quite simple. This authority should contain the words, "or either of them, ' otherwise both would have to be present at the meeting to cast the vote; it is not prudent to confine the power to one officer, as he may not be able to be present. REVOCATION OF PROXY Know All Men By These Presents: That the proxy and power of attorney heretofore executed by me, whereby I constituted and appointed my proxy and attorney for the purposes therein set forth in matters in connection with votes, elections, consents, waivers, and proceedings of, a corporation, are hereby revoked and made null and void.
